

Beetle | Edinburgh Fringe | Review

Jude Henderson | 7th August 2023

Beetle | House of Oz (Venue 63) Kings's Hall

Beetle at Edinburgh Fringe is an enchanting piece of theatre, Merle my 5 year old was speechless after the show, she was really captivated by the whole experience. – 4 Stars

Mini Travellers

We are back at the House of Oz and as ever, a warm welcome awaits. The front of house team proudly tell me they won Best Venue 2022, which was well deserved. The space is really great, just enough off the beaten track to grab a moment of chill, but only a couple of minutes walk from The Meadows and Summerhall so still in the heart of festival-land.

This year you can't miss the House of Oz as you head out South Clerk Street, the building is adorned with a GIANT skywalker gibbon designed by Australian artist Lisa Roet, which looks awesome. House of Oz is home to a brilliant array of Australian talent including the UK debut of Beetle.

Beetle is a wonderful mix of theatre, circus, animation and storytelling, which explores the view that everyone has a place in the world and even the smallest voice matters.